

Nurse-Family Partnership Program

OVERVIEW

WHAT IS NURSE-FAMILY PARTNERSHIP (NFP)?

NFP transforms the first thousand days of life for babies born to moms living in poverty. Beginning during pregnancy, and until the child is two, nurses visit moms at home to educate them on parenting, share resources, and perform health checks.

NFP AT WINGS

WiNGS NFP Nurses have a unique opportunity to share even more with first-time moms. With WiNGS financial education, career support, and entrepreneur training, nurses can easily refer members within the agency for a whole suite of programming.

HOME VISITS

Nurses typically visit moms in the comfort of their own homes however we have now pivoted to virtual visits to ensure the safety of moms and nurses.

CHANGING LIVES BY...

1. Helping women engage in preventative health practices like prenatal care, nutrition, and decreased substance use
2. Helping families develop the skills to care for their children and be great parents
3. Helping families create a vision for their future through goal-setting

MOMS ARE ELIGIBLE IF THEY ARE...

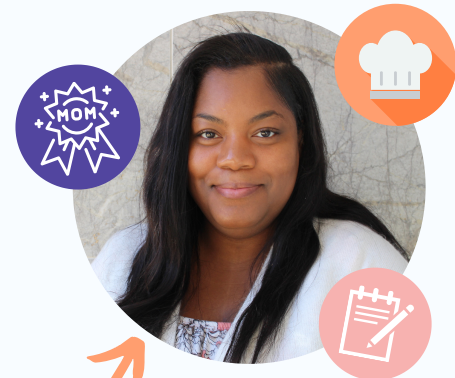

- First time moms
- Qualify for Medicaid
- Less than 28 weeks pregnant

PROVEN SUCCESS

NFP is a nationally recognized program. Of the 116 births since July 2019, only 6 babies were born pre-term, and only 5 were born at a low birth weight.

- Of the 150 moms enrolled in that time period:
- 80% received prenatal care in their first trimester
 - 91% of moms initiated breastfeeding
 - 40.2% continuing to breastfeed at 6 months.

MEET CHAJUANNA

Nurse Amber met Chajuanna in her 28th week of pregnancy, when Chajuanna was experiencing complications. Amber was able to provide critical support during the challenging time leading up to the premature birth of Chajuanna's daughter. Amber continued regular visits to provide support with newborn care, recovery and breastfeeding.

As an advocate for Chajuanna, Amber also connected her with a WiNGS financial coach, who worked with her to develop a household budget, and build a savings to start the business of her dreams. Through the WiNGS Women's Enterprise Center program, Chajuanna took even further steps toward that dream, and thereafter launched North Star Catering Company.
